The Board can also invite legislators to attend BAC meetings to discuss the re-capitalization of the fund.

Loan Officer Easley stated the ARLF used to revolve and now it does not. The last time the fund was re-capitalized was in 1986. Funds were put aside for collateral property (to take back operations) and those funds are not available now.

Boardmember Poindexter suggested the Board write a letter to the House Resource Committee to re-capitalize the ARLF for this year.
